ent road into the capital was rapidly approaching a climax.

The rain and the low ceiling kept war planes out of action, but the rival planes kept pounding positions marked by lightning flashes during the night.

Several times, set off by the artillery bombardment in the city, one got out for the rain.

REDS HUSH NEW TROOPS

The clatter of horses' hoofs and the tramp of thousands of feet gave evidence the government was pouring reinforcements into strategic points as rapidly as possible.

Among newly transferred troops was one that a thousand insurgents had been trapped in Casa del Campo. Official sources did not bear out the report.

A close observation of the center, moreover, showed heavy fighting in progress, with an indication the insurgents' rear lines had been cut.

University City line was under heavy shelling, preparatory to the intended penetration.

SEIZE ALL FOOD

Foreign Minister Delgado and Minister of Justice Oliver arrived from Valencia last night, and after conferring with the Junta issued an order banning all food entering the city, which will be enforced by the army.

At 10 o'clock, cut-off was also ordered, with all roads into the city closed.

The situation in the city is becoming more serious.

Red Hate Aimed at Churches

"Down with God!" is the cry of these Spanish Reds after they had set fire to a 200-year-old Roman Catholic Church in Seville. Here the mark of the wrath of Spanish Communists, church property being reduced to a shambles at the rate of hundreds of thousands of dollars per day. In the foreground the destroyers triumphantly raise their arms in the familiar Marxist salute. This picture is taken from the film "Spain in Revolt" at the Park Theater.

Madrid, writing for the government which issued this to establish a new emergency and of government at Valencia, issued a communication saying the government forces would hold all the bridge roads. It added that the insurgents had been forced to fire at the Casa de Campo, a rule from the Northern Railway station and the Royal Palace.

The government forces are winning. France hasn't a chance of entering the city. The ordinary people, shop keepers and merchants are fighting magnificently.

Francisco's Brother in Italy On Secret War Mission

Naples, Italy, Nov. 12 (AP)—Major Francisco Franco's brother, General Francisco, arrived today on a mission to recruit war material.

"We are at war," he said, "and we cannot decline our obligation."

He said, however, he was going to Rome after spending two days in Naples.

Major Francisco, who formerly was an attaché of the Spanish embassy at Washington, asserted his brother was attempting to recruit war material for the Italian government.

day and planning to attend the theater with her father last night.

Her father, in turn, was reported to Police Chief Arthur Barker Tuesday night, and search was immediately begun.

Yesterday afternoon a red flag and red paper were found on the shore of the pond at the foot of a section near Pleasant View lane.

The woman, identified by Mrs. Harvey as the daughter of the missing girl, was found dead.

POPULAR YACHT

There was nothing in the pocket book except a few papers. Mrs. Harvey said she believed a half dollar had been removed from the pocket.

Friends of the girl were told that she had been found dead three days ago on the mystery lake who had been identified as the missing girl.

SECRET A. F. L. POOL FASHIONS LEWIS' DEMONSTRATIONS EXPULSION

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 12 (INS)—The 17-man executive council of the American Federation of Labor today stands nine to eight in favor of expelling the union of John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

This was determined here today in a secret session of the council, made by an officer of the A. F. of L. who learned, moreover, that the union members favoring expulsion had no vote in the executive council.

Directed Verdict Denied Downing; Case Near Jury

After Judge Thomas H. Dowd of Middlesex court had denied a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty in the manslaughter case against Philip J. Downing, former Mayor's spokesman, final arguments were begun today.

By late afternoon, it was expected that the case would be in the hands of the jury. Downing was indicted as the result of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Lillian P. Fowler, 32-year-old Madison, wife of Downing.

LEWIS TACTICS HIT

All appeared interested in questions involving labor legislation and other issues which have been prominent in the past, but chief attention was centered on the Lewis tactics.

The tactics of Lewis, president of the C. I. O. union, in calling on Lewis to "explain" his actions as a mine workers member, angered leaders here.

Girl Check Passer May Be Paroled

Possibility of a parole for Miss Alice Mary Elwell, sentenced last year to an indefinite term in the House of Correction for passing checks at Boston's busiest shop, was being considered today by the parole board.

Justice Michael J. Murray told four charges of passing bad checks pending against her, opening the way for a plea for her release.

LINK FUGITIVES TO TROOPER KIDNAPING

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP)—A two-finger hand for the address of State Trooper William A. Thompson was attached today as police considered the possibility the fugitives might be the three people who escaped a month ago from the Indiana Penitentiary.

Colonel Mark O. Kimberling, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, said it was possible the members of the kidnap trio resembled like a woman was in reality a man.

"Who did not make a sound above a whisper," Kimberling said today. "That is one thing which makes us suspicious."

The state police had directed Captain Henry S. Wong, chief of the detective bureau, to contact Indiana authorities for descriptions and records of the escaped convicts.

At the time of their escape, Kimberling recalled, they said they were going to "make Dillinger look like a pilot."

Thompson was arrested near Louisville yesterday, driven into Pennsylvania and thrown out of the kidnappers' car, bound and gagged, to Freemansburg, near Bethlehem, Pa.

Victims of Angry Sea!

Into the turbulent depths of the Atlantic sank the fishing boat Virginia and Joan, taking to their graves all on board, is the belief of searchers, following the finding of the body of Harold Fairweather (upper inset, right), Charles Earl (lower inset, left), also of Gloucester, and four others are missing, and searchers were certain they, too, were dead.

Most Men Wisely Buy For Cash

The vast majority of the men in the United States pay cash for their clothes, and get full value for their money.

Guesswork? Not at all. The facts are from the National Association of Retail Clothiers, and they are a compliment to the good judgment of America's clothes buyers.

As business men, we know cash purchasers receive most for their money. We are glad to see that most men appreciate it.

This business is dedicated to value. That is why we buy and sell for cash. Even more important to you is the fact that we make and sell our clothes

Boats Hunt in Vain For Crew of Lost Fishing Smack

Gloucester, Nov. 12.—Hopes abandoned for their survival, coast guardmen and fishing vessels combed the waters between the port and the Isle of Shoals today for the bodies of five men, who apparently perished when the Gloucester fishing smack, the Virginia, sank last night.

Remains of the body of a sixth man, Harold Fairweather, 36, the father of three children, 31 miles east of Thatcher's Island, ended all hope that the coast and those aboard her might have escaped the gale's fury.

Today a score of fishing smacks abandoned their daily tasks to spend the daylight hours combing the waters for bodies or bits of wreckage.

LIST OF MISSING

With them remained the coast guard cutter Starling Loring and the Gloucester fishing smack, the Virginia, which was carrying the bodies of the five men, sailing in the straits.

The missing men, believed to have been the same five as Fairweather's crew, were:

Captain Austin Watson, 25, of Mr. Pleasant's company, owner of the fishing vessel and youngest skipper of the Gloucester fleet; Richard Fenn, 25, of Henry Penfold's fleet; Charles E. Gerring, 26, of Chapel street; James E. Jacobs, 28, of Chapel street; and Frederick Thompson, 48, of Gloucester, retired seaman and World War veteran, who made the trip with the fishing boat five days ago.

Discovery of Fairweather's body plunged the city in sadness as it indicated the worst fishing fleet tragedy in years was unfolding.

Fairweather's body, pulled up by the sea today, told the story of the tragedy. He was wrapped in a life belt, indicating the crew of the fishing ship apparently had time to take some preparations to save themselves.

It is now believed their bodies will be found, wrapped in life belts, floating in the vicinity of the gale's 11 miles off shore, where Fairweather's body was found.

Examination of Fairweather's body by Medical Examiner Dr. F. H. Hall showed he had succumbed as a result of exposure to the elements, indicating he had been swimming for some time in the heavy sea before he gave up to the bitter temperature and churning water. Furthermore, here below the gill net, running from heavy sea, quickly got into difficulty because of her heavy burden.

Witness, a young fisherman, was noted for the aid of his catches, and at the age of 18 was the brightest in his business, a little concerned on the shipper making the largest catch of the season.

DAULE SAFE AT HOME

Two fishing boat skippers returned to their homes to port today when they last saw the Virginia and Joan, and were heavily burdened and still had more work to do in one of the skippers' boats.

Two Bagger boats passed the port of Gloucester which was spread over the city as a result of the gale.

One was the return to port yesterday of Harold Watson and William Kibbe, both of whom had been reported missing at the same time, but were found today.

This morning the coast guard cutter Starling Loring, which had been ordered to look for the missing boat, was seen in the harbor.

Under the last time, he had shown in water around the harbor, this being used from from looking the ship which might have returned in the harbor.

Struck by Plaster, Goes to Hospital

Edward Arnold to Play 'Three Men On a Horse' Met Hit

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor, Universal Service

Los Angeles, Nov. 12—Remember those "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" fables which were so widely read in both magazine and book form a few years ago? Now when would you nominate for George Randolph Cluett's prize character, the opulent hero whose money making schemes were so often profitable, Edward Arnold? Of course no one can touch him in this type of characterization. So he has the starring role in "The World's Our Oyster" to be made by the David O. Selznick company with E. Lloyd Sheldon producing.

Cherry And Pineapple Upside-Down Cake

BY MARTHA LEE
UPSIDE-DOWN Cakes are old favorites, but you'll find this one, with its red cherries and golden pineapple rings nesting in melted brown sugar topped with the fluffiest, most delicious cake you ever tasted.

Ingredients:
1 cup vegetable shortening
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup vanilla
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup sifted flour
1 egg, unbeaten
1 cup sifted brown sugar
1 cup canned pineapple juice
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 cup canned pineapple
1/2 cup cherries (optional)

PREPARE UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

1. Put the vegetable shortening in a large pan and melt it. Add the brown sugar and vanilla and stir well. Add the sugar and flour and stir well. Add the egg and stir well. Add the sifted brown sugar and stir well. Add the canned pineapple juice and stir well. Add the brown sugar and stir well. Add the canned pineapple and stir well. Add the cherries (optional) and stir well.

2. Pour the mixture into a greased pan and bake in a preheated oven at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

3. Turn the cake out onto a plate and serve.

4. Enjoy!

Barameter of Eye Loveliness

Fresh Air and Rest Will Keep Eyes Brilliant And Sparkling

By DINNA GRACE

THE "AVERAGE" woman may be indifferent to the appearance of her eyes, but it does not detract from her beauty and charm. We believe, however, that the eyes are the most important feature of the face, and that they should be kept in the best possible condition.

There is one mark of fatigue that no one will notice, and that is, we repeat, in the eyes. When the eyes are tired, they become red, and the vision is blurred. This is a sign that the body is overworked, and that the eyes need rest and fresh air.

There is no charge for the treatment. Just send for the "Prescription for the Eyes" and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope to receive it.

The condition can be corrected by removing the cause, and in each case a plan is given to do this. A book of recipes for different exercises in the eye is also given. When the condition is corrected, the eyes will be as bright and sparkling as ever. There is a tendency to become attached to the eyes, and it will be a great deal of pleasure to find them as bright and sparkling as ever.

more for your whiskey."

Says ARTHUR LIVERMORE, well-known
New England Bartender

BE KIND TO THE BARTENDER
WHO'S KIND TO YOU!

When you're out Kessler's is your best bet. 90% proof whiskey that's a pleasure to drink. Good morning.

Kessler's owns the bar in town because Mr. Kessler blends his whiskey in a special, costlier way to make sure it will pay you back up without kick back.

Step up and ask your bartender for the best whiskey value. If he's a good fellow, and a good businessman, too, he'll give you Kessler's because he knows its rich taste and friendly smoothness will bring you back again.

Mother Who Loves Peace Warns Her Country

MADAME ERNESTINE SCHUMMANN-HEINK'S Armistice Day message to America, written for "Good Housekeeping" magazine and reprinted yesterday on this page, was the prayer that came from a mother's heart.

Madame Schumann-Heink is one of the world's outstanding women. For more than two generations she has sung before audiences in almost every civilized country. She has met kings and queens and presidents, and she has shared her great art with the humblest peasant.

But Madame Schumann-Heink is FIRST a mother. Before all the achievements of her long life, she places that distinction.

And as a mother, she knows about war—its horror, its terror, its overwhelming loss and suffering. She tells you:

"No woman on earth hates war more than I hate it, for I have not only known the grief of every mother who has had sons go down to death on the battlefield, but I have endured the agony of seeing my family divided—my boys fighting each other, fighting to kill—one with the country of my birth; four with this country, which I love more than I ever loved my homeland."

YET, sincerely hating war and bloodshed, Madame Schumann-Heink does not permit her hatred to fill her into placid pacifism. She is too wise for that, too good a student of human nature.

Instead, she warns America to be prepared for war, to be prepared so well that nobody will dare to attack us. She expresses it simply and understandingly.

"We are a rich country; we can be sufficient to ourselves.

"We do not wish to offend any other. Only we ask that they leave us in peace.

"But we should be so thoughtful of our position that if any one sets foot across our boundaries we could take our part.

"I want my country to have the finest and biggest defense army on earth.

"If airplanes are the thing that will win if we are forced into another war, let's have MORE airplanes than any one else—and BETTER ONES!"

IN the words of this white-haired old lady, whom the American Legion calls mother, there is wisdom no thinking citizen can afford to ignore.

Loving peace is not enough. ONLY A NATIONAL DEFENSE SUFFICIENTLY STRONG TO COMMAND WORLD RESPECT CAN INSURE PEACE.

France Honors Bostonian

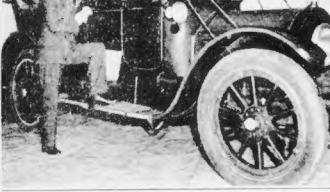

MUSIC lovers of America applaud once more the genius of Dr. Serge Koussevitzky, Boston Symphony Orchestra conductor, honored for the third time by the French Legion of Honor.

In 1924, while he was still living in Paris, Dr. Koussevitzky was made a Chevalier of the Legion. Six years later he received promotion to the rank of Legion Officer. Now he is elevated to the eminence of Commander.

Boston, America's front door, is fortunate to number among her citizenry a man who speaks so eloquently "the universal language of music."

He Threw Away the "Crank"

Then, Donald Henderson Clark, who a few years ago lived a dissipated, dissolute life, was one of the hundred who were arrested in the city. He was one of the hundred who were arrested in the city. He was one of the hundred who were arrested in the city.

The picture, taken in New York, shows Charles F. Kettering seated at the wheel of an ancient "touring car" and chatting with Alfred P. Sloan, Jr. They are celebrating the twenty-fourth anniversary of one of the greatest inventions of modern times, namely, the self-starter for automobiles.

Back in 1912 Kettering, shared every man's hatred of the job of "cranking" cars. But while others recoiled themselves to hating and to breaking down and twisting joints, he set out to do something about it. He succeeded.

In the automobile you see is a motor, not as efficient as the one in your modern car probably, but nonetheless the first in the world to start by the pressing of a button.

Kettering had solved one of the greatest problems of transportation. He gave the automobile to mother, sister and grandpa. No longer did one have to be an athlete with a wrestler's muscles to get his car out of the garage onto the road.

Today, as Boston prepares to see the greatest automobile exposition in modern history, it is fitting to honor Charles F. Kettering and to wish for him many more years of hard thinking and useful inventing.

New York Day by Day
